

Radio copy

Date _____ Client The New York Times Job number _____

Title & length I Predict :60 Product _____ Generic _____

Commercial number _____ As produced date _____

© embodyart. Permission must be obtained prior to use in any media.

"I PREDICT" :60 NYT 7-Day Delivery

ANNCR: Here again with us is futurist George Street, with some captivating predictions for the '90s and beyond.

MYSTIC: I predict... that computers will pick whether they want to be boys or girls and will be given the vote.

ANNCR: I heard someone else say that, too.

MYSTIC: I predict... that everyone will be .01 of a millimeter wider. Sorry.

ANNCR: How soon?

MYSTIC: Very. I predict that The New York Times will offer new subscribers 7-day home delivery - for only $3.00 a week, for the first 13 weeks, which is more than half off the regular newsstand price! I can feel the vibrations of this event in my toes.

ANNCR: (LAUGHS OUT THE WORDS) These troubled economic times would never permit such a possibility!

MYSTIC: Oh yeah? Why don't you hold a summit? I predict that readers will become inordinately attached to the top-rate local and international news reporting, the fascinating scientific and human interest stories and the very famous Sunday New York Times including the Arts & Leisure section, the Book Review, the Magazine and all those job offers in the Classifieds. You might want to take a look there yourself, you know.

ANNCR: All for three bucks?! You can't see a movie for three bucks, fill up your car, buy lunch, a paperback, a record, socks, ANYTHING!

MYSTIC: Don't I know it. It's tough being a seer these days. Listen: I predict people will call 1-800-631-2500 to order The New York Times.

ANNCR: I gotta call while this is true. I'm calling right now...

MYSTIC: What did I tell you? Did he listen to me? I'm always right. I can predict the weather too