

When Wrong IS Right

Hi Katie:

Have you ever found something you thought was wrong turned out to be right?

How many times has something happened or not happened that you really wanted and down the road you were able to see the sense behind it? Heartbreak that led to your true love later who you wouldn't have met. The job you didn't get that led you to start your own business...

When things don't go your way (or the way you thought you wanted), I believe the Universe has your back and often has something better in store for you.

A small example: the software I'm certified in for building online courses and membership sites, AccessAlly, suddenly issued its biggest update since it began the week of my client's launch recently. That could have been a big problem if nothing worked the way we expected just as we were about to hit "go." But it turned out that the update was fantastic and made things go smoother and better. Thank you, Universe (and AccessAlly).

How about a huge example, meaning Covid? It's caused a shakeup no one would have asked for. Without lessening the devastation, I believe there are many blessings from this experience we can all benefit from. For one thing, there's no going back to "the way things were." Is that sad or bad? I don't think so. Scary? Yes. Courage contains fear (they're not opposites). You 2.0 is always going to be more evolved than You 1.0; that's called growth. Wisdom requires growth and life flourishes when you grow.

Have you noticed that crazy difficult times always produce massive innovation? Uber (and related companies like Lyft) started during the 2008/9 recession. Zoom (which I've used for 5 years prior to Covid) is now a household name thanks to Covid requiring so many of us to communicate online.

Personally, when nobody was picking up or allowing donation dropoffs and after massive frustration with a room full of boxes, I turned to selling online on Poshmark (which I'd tried unsuccessfully before but this time was focused and determined). That led to so much fun and $3,534.30 in profit plus now showing you how to do it too. (Get my free article here.)

What's gone wrong for you lately? Didn't get that job? Tough breakup? You can bet something fascinating is in store for you as a result.

xo,

P.S. Check out my free article on decluttering and selling what you declutter for extra cash, here.

Photo by Mjguel Photography. (more here)